APRIL – MAY 2017

Dear E.D.E. and EAHSA members,
You are now reading a joint newsletter of our European Associations which is a result of mutual cooperation that has been growing especially in the last 3 years. A decision was made by both Executive Boards of E.D.E. and EAHSA that starting in May 2017 we will have a joint newsletter which will bring you information and news. Also a decision was made that in 2018 we are going to have the first joint congress in Prague. The Executive Boards of the E.D.E. and EAHSA are working on the merging process, on preparing the next two congresses and also on project applications. The cooperation process that could result in a merging process was introduced at the General Assembly of the E.D.E. in Bratislava and the EAHSA members will talk about it at the General meeting, which takes place in Brussels on December 4, 2017. We hope that throughout this cooperation we can have a stronger voice in the EU in this turbulent and hectic time. We will bring you more in the next newsletter.

We would also like to thank our sponsors – ActiZ, Sodexo and Paul Hartmann who support our work in both organizations. THANK YOU!

Dear members, we wish you nice summer and we are looking forward to working with all of you.

Aad Koster – president of EAHSA
Jiří Horecký – president of the E.D.E.

ENNHRI – New resource in human rights

New resource to help long-term care providers and workers understand their human rights obligations.

Up to five percent of the population aged 65+ in Europe use formal residential long-term care (LTC) services. As the older population is set to double by 2060 and financial pressures on the public purse in all European states will grow, care providers are being squeezed to provide higher quality care with fewer resources. This is making it increasingly harder for care providers to uphold their human rights obligations towards older persons in care.

ENNHRI has recently published a new resource for care providers to help them understand their human rights obligations. It introduces providers to a Human Rights-Based Approach to long-term care - a model that places the principles and standards of human rights at the centre of all aspects of service design and practice. Click here to access the Toolkit and here for more information on the human rights of older persons in long-term care.

French Charter on responsible and sustainable nutrition in elderly care facilities

French elderly care facilities, together with the ministries of Health, Social Affairs and Agriculture have signed a national Charter to promote responsible and sustainable nutrition in elderly care facilities. The Charter fits into the framework of the National Nutrition Programs PNA and PNNS, focussing on better food for residents, combatting food waste and on the local provision of food.

EAHSA member FNAQPA was involved and officially signed the Charter. It calls for the development of action plans per facility to promote the well-being of residents while reducing food waste and to engage facility management, professional carers, residents and their families.

European Commission proposes an ambitious European Pillar of Social Rights

On 26 April 2017 the European Commission published its proposal for European Pillar of Social Rights. The European Pillar of Social Rights sets out 20 key principles and rights to support fair and well-functioning labour markets and welfare systems. It is primarily conceived for the euro area but applicable to all EU Member States wishing to be part of it. The initiative follows Commission President Juncker's announcement in 2014 to work for a 'social triple A' for Europe – in order to give greater prominence to employment and social considerations in European policies.
